

VISIONS OF NORWAY

A Scandi ski-sail trip is on many a reader's bucket-list. Next best, if you can't make that happen, is to take a trip to the Alpine Club (London EC2), where oil paintings and watercolours of that very trip, by mountain/ski painter Janet Johnson, are on display until 1 May. Four lecture evenings will take place in March and April; viewings can be arranged on other dates in office hours. The paintings were inspired by the artist's trips to Lyngen and Spitsbergen. Also on show will be Norway-related maps, books and paintings from the Alpine Club archives.
